

Scarlet Fever Reaches New High Here With 139 Cases Since January 1

Local Health Board Committee Will Confer With Education Board Officials Regarding Outbreak

MOST CASES ARE MILD

Only One Case Reported So Far Has Resulted in Serious Complications

With 139 cases of scarlet fever reported in Kingston since the first of the year the Board of Health Tuesday evening named Drs. Nakov, Voss and Sanford and Mayor C. J. Heiselman as a committee to confer with President Alfred Schmidt of the Board of Education, Superintendent B. C. Van Ingen and Dr. Crowley, the school physician, in regard to the situation.

A discussion of the scarlet fever outbreak took up the greater part of the meeting of the health board last evening, and Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, in response to questions, said that so far this month 27 cases had been reported, which with 53 cases in January and 59 cases in February, brought the total to 139 cases, and this number was being increased daily.

The great majority of the cases in Kingston were mild it was stated. Dr. Sanford said that of all the cases reported only one child had been so seriously ill that complications had set in. Many of the cases had been discovered by school nurses in making calls at the homes of pupils who were absent from school.

A humorous incident was reported of one of the school nurses interviewing a young boy in one of the schools as to why his brother was absent from school, and while she was questioning the boy she discovered he had a rash on his face. The boy had scarlet fever; the boy who was absent from school had not.

The conference between the health and education officials of the city will be for the purpose of deciding whether it would be best to employ several more nurses to assist the school nurses in checking on fever cases.

State Nurse Loaned

Dr. Sanford informed the board that the state health department had loaned him the services of one of its nurses and this nurse he had assigned to assist the school nurses in checking on children absent from school.

The health officer in reply to questions from the board said that he did not believe it would be wise to close the city schools as by keeping the schools open it afforded a better opportunity of keeping check on the spread of the disease.

Objects to Raise

Attorney Roscoe V. Elsworth appeared before the board in behalf of his client, David Farber, of this city. Mr. Farber conducts a slaughter house downtown and he had been paying $5 a week to the health board to have his meat inspected. The first of the year the inspection rate was jumped to $10 a week. Mr. Farber thought that a 100 per cent jump in inspection rates was too much.

Later after discussing the scarlet fever situation and deciding to have the board committee meet with the education board officials, the health board went into executive session to consider the request of Mr. Farber to have the inspection rate made him the first of the year reduced.

Infant Mortality

The infant mortality rate in February was 107.1 as compared to 69.7 in February of last year. Dr. Sanford explained that the high mortality rate was due to the fact that there had been six deaths of children under one year of age, and that three of the children were not residents of Kingston.

The following are the reports of the officers of the Board of Health for the month of February:

Rosendale to Give Varied Events for Summer Visitors

Within a short time the Rosendale Township Association will begin the sponsorship of regular moving pictures with sound for the entertainment of its own resident people and the hundreds who vacation there in the summer. This was determined at a regular session of the Board of Directors of the organization which met last night at the Bridge View Inn in Rosendale.

The directors also voted to engage a sports director for the summer season to organize and carry out a varied program of games and sports for all the residents of the township, to inform visitors about scheduled events and encourage their participation or attendance at the same, and to use his initiative in giving the vacationist more in the line of sports and entertainment.

Result of Talk

These actions are a direct outgrowth of a recent talk in conjunction with the showing of the Central Hudson Vacationland film by Mr. H. E. Dexter, general manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. At that time Mr. Dexter said, "Hudson River Valley vacation centers need most of all a cooperative supervised program of sports activity to give the vacationist something extra to do to enjoy himself."

The first moving picture of the new series will be shown next Tuesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Township Association at Freeman's Hall, to test the acoustics of the auditorium. The experimental film has been secured by Dr. Eugene P. Galt from the State Department and is of interesting educational value to all. No admission will be charged at this initial showing. After the acoustical tests in the different Rosendale auditoriums, the Township Association will be prepared to show its commercial film premier. This will be on the Saturday evening following the

New Post Office Opens For Inspection Friday

Will Move From Temporary Quarters On Saturday Afternoon—Remodeled Building Cost $200,000 to Construct

Kingston's enlarged and remodeled Central Post office will be thrown open to public inspection on Friday, and will be opened for the conduct of business on Monday morning. Work of removing from the temporary quarters in the former Lown building on Broadway will be commenced at the close of business on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The Central post office has been under construction since January of 1937, and a two story addition has been added to the original building. The government made an appropriation of $200,000 to construct the addition and to purchase the new furnishings. The general contract for the construction work was awarded to Albert & Harrison of New York City, and Nels Hansen, of the treasury department, was the construction engineer in charge for the government.

Hours of Inspection.

Postmaster William R. Kraft said today that the hours for public inspection of the post office on Friday had been fixed from 10 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when the public will be given an opportunity of visiting and inspecting the new post office.

In the temporary quarters in the Lown building on upper Broadway, the lobby will be open on Saturday afternoon until 2 o'clock for the convenience of holders, and after that hour boxholders may obtain their mail at the Central post office.

As soon as the post office business is closed on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, the usual hour for closing, the work of removing to the Central post office will be started and on Monday morning all post office business will be conducted in the remodeled quarters.

Dedication Later

Postmaster Kraft said today that the new building would not be dedicated until after the final inspection by the treasury department when the building will be officially turned over to the post office department. The date for the dedication ceremonies has not been fixed as yet.

In order to add the two story addition to the Central Post Office it was necessary for the government to purchase and demolish a two story frame house on Prince street, and the two story brick building which was occupied on the ground floor as a confectionery store with living apartments on the second floor.

The second floor of the new addition is being used to house the federal offices while offices in the basement are being used by the recruiting offices of the U. S. Army and Navy.

Postmaster Kraft said that now that the new building has been completed and ready for occupancy that his next objective would be the erection of post office buildings uptown and downtown.

Drinks Boiled Water

Los Angeles, March 9 (AP)—Los Angeles drank boiled water today as a protection against pollution from sewer main broken by last week's flood. All public drinking fountains were shut off.

House Kills Tentatively Proposed Surtax Covering Family-Owned Businesses

Leverich, Negro In Hospital After Steep Rocks Blaze Called at 3 A. M.

Deputy Fire Chief Overcome While Rescuing Man at Terry's Brickyard

Deputy Fire Chief Fred M. Leverich is confined to his home under a physician's care and Ernest Terrell, a negro, is a patient in the Kingston Hospital. Both are suffering from an overdose of smoke in a fire that broke out in a two story frame dwelling owned by the Terry brothers, brickyard and located in Steep Rocks. The deputy fire chief received the overdose of smoke in rescuing the negro.

It was about 3 o'clock this morning when the fire department received a call for the fire at Steep Rocks. The house is occupied by Wesley Carter and Benjamin Harris. The negro Terrell is a boarder in the Harris apartment.

Smoking In Bed

It was while Terrell was smoking in his bed in a room on the second floor of the house that the mattress and bedclothing caught fire. The fire smoldered eating off dense clouds of smoke which filled the house from top to bottom.

As the smoke began to fill the house the occupants rushed outdoors and someone called the fire department.

Deputy Fire Chief Leverich and Freeman Charles V. Brown and Richard Weeks responded from the Central Station with the fire apparatus.

No Trace Of Fire

As the firemen approached the house over North street they could discover no trace of fire and it was not until close to the house that they saw the smoke emerging from the doors and windows.

Deputy Fire Chief Leverich was informed that Terrell was in the house. The deputy fire chief rushed into the house accompanied by Freeman Brown and Weeks. They had a difficult time in locating Terrell in the house. Finally they found him slumped down in the corner of his bedroom which was filled with a dense heavy smoke from the burning feathers in the bedding. They carried Terrell out into the street and then rushed him to the hospital as he appeared to be badly overcome with an overdose of smoke that he had inhaled. There were no burns on him. At the hospital later it was said that his condition was fair.

Severe Pains In Chest

It was not until Deputy Fire Chief Leverich returned to the Central Fire Station after the fire at Steep Rocks was under control that he began to experience severe pains across the chest from inhaling too much smoke. He was taken to his home and Dr. Frank A. Johnston, one of the fire department doctors, was called and attended him. His condition is not considered serious.

As for the fire that had started both men it was confined mostly to the bedding in the bedroom, and aside from the damage to the bedding the only damage to the house was from smoke. Freeman Brown and Weeks did not sustain any ill effects from the heavy smoke.

County Taxpayers' Council.

The Ulster County Taxpayers' Council will meet at the Stuyvesant Hotel Friday night, March 11, at 7:30.

Suspended

Richard Whitney, (above) president of the New York Stock Exchange through some of his most trying depression days, was suspended for failure of his firm to meet its obligations. He is a brother of George Whitney, Morgan partner.

Y.W.C.A. Financial Drive Opens Soon With Goal of $7,000

The annual Y. W. C. A. budget campaign opens next Monday evening, March 14, with a supper meeting for all campaign workers and will continue through the week with the final report meeting on Monday evening, March 21. The goal will be $7,000, which is the amount needed annually to finance the association program.

Many improvements have been made at the association during this last year, so that the organization can more efficiently serve the girls and young women of the community. Owing to the crowded conditions, the ground floor of the building has been taken over, thus affording two club rooms, game room, and dressing rooms. The first floor has been rearranged, providing better office space and much larger kitchen. New equipment has been added, affording greater recreation facilities, and some new furnishings have made the club rooms much more attractive. The attendance at activities during the year 1937 was greater than any year since the Y. W. C. A. was founded, being more than 28,000.

In appreciation of all these improvements, the members are planning their campaign with enthusiasm. Mrs. Frederic Holcomb is general chairman and the drive will be organized in three divisions, with Mrs. John J. Storer heading the Married Women's Club Division, Mrs. E. J. Phillips as captain of the Business and Professional Girls' Division, and Mrs. Charles Tresselt as captain of the Women's Division. They are being assisted by lieutenants, each of whom is organizing a team of campaign workers.

Administration Forces Said They Would Demand Another Vote on Item Before Final Ballot

F. D. R.'s VETO

Roosevelt May Veto Measure If Tax Is Eliminated from Bill

Washington, March 9 (AP)—The House tentatively struck from the tax revision bill today a proposed surtax on family-owned and closely held corporations. The tilter vote was 189 to 121. Defeated in their initial attempt to save the most controversial item in the measure, administration forces said they would demand another vote on it before the House ballots on final passage of the bill.

A coalition of Republicans and Democrats succeeded in winning House approval for an amendment to strip the levy on closely held firms from the bill, although members had received shortly before a warning that a revenue measure with that tax eliminated might be vetoed by President Roosevelt.

Doughton Warns

Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) of the ways and means committee, seeking to avert the tide of votes against the amendment to kill the levy, told the legislators that if the surtax were eliminated "in my judgment the bill will be vetoed."

The ballot followed a rousing speech by Representative McCormack (D., Mass.), author of the amendment to kill the surtax. McCormack said the levy was a "punitive, discriminatory tax upon the independent type of corporation that is identified with our community."

There were yells of approval when he concluded.

McCormack took exception to statements by proponents of the tax that supporters of his amendment had "made an abject surrender to the middle class."

No Doubt on Voting

He said he had no doubt how Democrats on the ways and means committee would vote on his amendment if they were free to do so. He took a dig at Chairman Doughton for voting in the special session of Congress to return the wage-hour bill to the House labor committee.

Doughton turned crimson when the New Englander asserted: "The gentleman from North Carolina joining the Republican party in helping to defeat one of the major bills of the administration."

After the vote on the surtax Representative Robertson (D., Va.) told the House he would offer an amendment to add 25 cents a gallon to the excise tax on distilled liquor. He said the additional levy, which would bring the total tax to $2.25 a gallon, would raise approximately $11,000,000.

Industrial Group Plans for Future

Members of the newly appointed mayor's industrial committee held a dinner and meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel Tuesday night. James A. Dwyer, Jr., presided at the meeting, which was devoted to a discussion of the situation generally and plans for future procedure.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, March 9 (AP)—The position of the treasury on March 7: Receipts, $26,115,311.86; expenditures, $38,058,627.89; balance, $2,992,074,346.11. Customs receipts for the month, $6,198,351.82. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $3,933,537,282.29; expenditures, $5,112,436,890.52, including $1,382,538,955.87 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $1,158,879,508.23; gross debt, $37,747,554,279.85, an increase of $2,140,891.68 above the previous day; gold assets, $12,767,692,246.56.

Reserves Her Right

London, March 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that Sir Ronald Lindsay, ambassador at Washington, had been instructed to inform the United States government that Britain "reserves her right over the islands of Canton and Enderbury."

In the Pacific Chamberlain announced that "proposals will be submitted in hope of ending this controversy."

Agel Man Arrested.

Jesse Weeks, 72, of Glenford, was arrested shortly after 1 o'clock this morning on North Front street, charged with public intoxication. Later in police court he was sentenced to five days in jail.

Fire Fighters Film, Kingston Theatre

Some of the most spectacular flame fighting scenes ever thrown upon a movie screen are promised in the Warner Brothers melodrama "She Loved a Fireman" which was shown for the first time today and will be shown again on Friday and Saturday at the Kingston Theatre on Wall street, under the sponsorship of Cordis Hose Co.

Dick Foran plays the hero in the picture and the climax is an immense blaze on a waterfront, with boats as well as land apparatus engaged in fighting the fire.

John Farrow, who directed the picture, says that for the first time a fire fighting picture has been produced that really portrays the spirit of the fire department. Tickets for the picture may be obtained from any member of Cordis Hose.

Jury Freed Dodge in Slot Machine Case

Tuesday evening a jury in police court brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of John Dodge, of 68 Liberty street, who was arrested on February 17, on a charge of having a slot machine in his possession in the Colonial Diner on Broadway where he was employed. Judge Cahill discharged Dodge when the jury returned its verdict. The judge also granted a stay of one week in the confiscation order for the destruction of the machine that was seized at the time Dodge was arrested. Archie Robinson testified that he had played the machine shortly before the arrest was made. Dodge was represented at the trial by Attorney Joseph Forman, while Assistant District Attorney N. LeVan Haver and Attorney Fred Stang prosecuted the case. The court room was filled with a large and interested audience.

Wrong number —right idea

A telephone user was having difficulty getting a number. The operator said there was no such central office as the one he had given her.

"But, operator," he insisted, "I know there is such a central office. It's right here in front of me on my friend's letter-head—'Established one-eight-nine-five'!"

Despite this unusual case of "mistaken identity," it's a good idea to display your telephone number as prominently as your street address—on advertising material, business forms, stationery, both business and personal. The easier you make it for people to get in touch with you, the more likely they are to do it. New York Telephone Company.

STRIKING STUDENTS EXPELLED FROM SCHOOL

Striking students at Doylestown, Pa., some of whom are shown here, received notice they were expelled from the National Farm School. They replied that they would stay "until forcibly evicted." The students are striking against the retention of Dean Cletus L. Goodling as farm manager.

Y. M. Attendance Records Shattered During February

All past records for attendance in the numerous activities of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. were shattered by the new high figure of 8,859 for the month of February according to the report presented by General Secretary Robert L. Sisson to the Board of Directors Tuesday evening.

"The chief concern of the association," states Secretary Sisson, "during the past month has been in stepping up the character building program by two outstanding features. Physical Director Charles Henke, an ardent enthusiast for good sportsmanship, has completed plans for the first gold medal basketball tournament with five attractive awards for sportsmanship besides the many other prizes. Under the able leadership of Boys' Work Secretary Ellis T. Bookwalter, the Hi-Y Club has sponsored two high school dances in the new gym after the basketball games. Although we are pleased at the attendance, aggregating nearly 500, the satisfaction comes in knowing that 250 young folks were having a good time in an environment making for good citizenship. If the Y. M. C. A. has done nothing more than promote these two features, it has justified its existence in Kingston."

President Clarence Dumm, who is vitally interested in the youth of the city, as principal of the high school thanked the Y. M. C. A. for its aid in helping the Hi-Y Club in these worthy projects.

The Board of Directors unanimously approved the following tentative plans for the "Y. M. C. A. Apple Production Financial Campaign," the general collection which will take place during the week of April 25 to May 2 as announced last fall in the papers. Mr. Dumm will lead the organization as general chairman, assisted by C. E. Wonderly as co-chairman. The initial gift committee will be ably directed by A. J. Shufeldt, C. S. Treadwell and Stanley Matthews. The steering committee is busy getting the preliminary details under way and is composed of Clarence Dumm, C. S. Rowland, C. L. Wonderly and Howard St. John.

The budget committee has approved the figure of $10,892.58 as the minimum needed to carry on the program and make some repairs which must be taken care of immediately—or else badly impair the program.

Through the efforts of Chairman Pearl Carey of the speakers' committee, Leslie J. Tompkins, personnel director of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., will open the campaign on Monday, April 25.

The campaign will again be managed by Robert L. Sisson, thus keeping the expenses of running the organization at a low figure.

The supper was prepared by Mrs. George DuBois and served by Mrs. James Guttridge and Mrs. Robert L. Sisson of the Ladies Auxiliary. Those in attendance at the board meeting were Clarence Dumm, Clarence Rowland, James W. Scott, C. S. Treadwell, Dr. Julian Gifford, James A. Guttridge, A. B. Shufeldt, E. J. Trowbridge and Stanley Matthews.

Deaf, Blind School

Floating Floor Special Feature of New Building

New York, March 9 (AP)—Opening of the first school building designed for the exclusive use of deaf blind children was announced today by Dr. Merle E. Brampton, principal of the New York Institute for the education of the blind.

A feature of the new building will be a room, not yet completed, with a "floating floor," through which vibrations will be sent into the pupils' bodies. With training, officials said, the pupils will be able to distinguish vibrations of speech and music.

Seven pupils already are receiving instruction at the school and it was expected that the capacity of 15 would be reached by September.

Inspects Factory Locations in City

Samuel Gade, vice president and treasurer of the American Valve Co., which has a plant in Cossack, was in Kingston on Tuesday inspecting several proposed factory sites.

The American Valve Co. was established in 1901 with a plant in Cossack. Mr. Gade was shown several sites in the city.

He arrived at no decision yesterday, but is expected to return later to Kingston with other officials of the company.

Knocks in Doorbells

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Governmental efforts to keep doorbells out of federal housing projects are coming in for a lot of knocks. Such a clamor was set up over their omission in the Williamsburg and Harlem river projects in New York city that the housing administration had to install $2,024.75 worth of bells.

Combined Effort Asked

Speaking of the coming Apple Blossom Festival, Edward M. Huben said that although the Township Association already has arranged an interesting program for the entertainment of week-end guests on May 6, 7, and 8, with the inspection of Andrew J. Snyder's model cement mill and mine as a highlight, "we should have a combined organization effort to put on some kind of an affair." The meeting ordered, therefore, that the secretary invite every organization in town to send a committee of one to a meeting of delegates from all organizations to promote a combined effort in putting across an outstanding Apple Blossom Affair in Rosendale.

Tribute to Burns

Rudolph Ziegler moved that a letter of thanks be sent to the Emergency Crew of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation for their fine work in connection with the recovery of the body of Edward P. Burns in his car in Sturgeon Pool last week. The motion was seconded by Paul Schiller, who spoke of the outstanding character and ability of Mr. Burns and said that "we in Rosendale have lost one of our most valuable citizens."

Other routine matters brought up at the meeting were referred to committees.

Those present were, President Joseph O'Connor, of Bloomington, Ralph Dewey, of Tillson, Walter Williams of Binnewater, Paul Schiller, of Tillson, Joseph Hill, of Rosendale, Otto Lange of LeFevre Falls, Edward Desston of Creek Locks, Rudolph Ziegler of Rosendale, Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale, Edward M. Huben of Rosendale, Henry Mollenhauer of Rosendale, and Alfred Piotti Beili of Cortekill.

Scarlet Fever Cases Increase

Voss and Dr. Rakov of the health board and Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, and President Alfred Schmid of the Board of Education, Superintendent B. C. Van Ingen, and Dr. Crowley the school physician. Dr. Chant in charge of the local office of the state health department was also present.

As a result of the conference it was decided that the education board would employ the services of two additional nurses while the emergency exists. Since the first of January 139 cases of scarlet fever had been reported in Kingston.

It was the opinion of those attending the conference that part of the spread of the disease was due to the failure of quarantine regulations being observed by families who had been quarantined. It was pointed out that those who violate quarantine regulations are subject to arrest and fine in police court.

If the quarantine regulations are not observed the health department is prepared to take such drastic action as having the violators placed under arrest.

Doctors say here is a laxative for stomach pain. It is digested and broken. It takes three little black tablets called Bell's are the indication to melt the extra stomach acids, burps, relieve distress in a minute and you are back on your feet. Bell's is so gentle it dissolves and one little package serves to add for 24 hours for indigestion.

Organization Confident. Kansas City, March 9 (AP).—Tom Pendergast's Democratic organization—one of the most powerful in the nation—painted today to its two to one margin in yesterday's primary as an indicator for the city election March 29. The newly organized coalition party, however, looked hopefully to more than 70,000 eligible voters who failed to appear for the "no contest" primary. Only the coalitionists and Pendergast had tickets and both sides had to be nominated.

The School Child and THE AP

Should it be possible for the 7th grade editors of the "Elm Signal" to have the privilege of saying that their paper is a member of the Associated Press? They are having a challenge with the 8th grade to see which class can put out the best paper, and... we want to win.*

* Excerpt from a letter received by The Associated Press from Roberta Shearer, news editor of the seventh grade paper of Elm Union Elementary School, Hilmar, California.

Dear Roberta:

As one of the 1,400 member newspapers of The Associated Press, we thank you for so clearly stating your request. This newspaper is proud to say it belongs to the AP because it believes in the principle on which this unique non-profit, cooperative press association was founded many years ago.

You may not be able to say your school paper is a member of the AP, but you have demonstrated you know what would make any newspaper all its editors would like it to be.

This newspaper, for example, recognizes a public trust. It knows its duty is to report the events of the world accurately, swiftly and fearlessly, so that its readers may have a clear knowledge of what is happening. As a member of the AP, it is able to do exactly that. Perhaps you may have read what the founder of the present-day AP said away back in 1893. It was: "The people must be given the facts, free from the slightest bias, leaving to them the business of forming their own opinions."

Throughout the years The Associated Press has provided just such news reports. Long after you are out of the seventh grade — as long as there is freedom in this land of ours — it will continue to report the truth, swiftly and fearlessly. That's why 1,400 newspapers are proud to be members of such a world-wide news gathering organization.

Sincerely yours,

KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN

Barber Shops to Close Thursday

Customers who usually rely upon local barber shops to keep the stubble on the chin close cropped should remember that there will be a "barbers' holiday" Thursday when it is anticipated all barber shops will remain closed for the day. The usual closing time will also be observed this evening.
In a drive for better working conditions, uniform prices for work done, and better wages, as well as sanitary conditions and uniform closing hours for all shops, the barbers will take Thursday off from work and assemble at Leventhal Hall, Wall Street, instead of going to work. There speeches and instructions will be given and later a tour of any open shops will be made to place the problems before any boss barber whose shop may be open and not in accord with the movement. Following the closing of shops this evening, there will be an assembly at the hall on Wall Street for last minute instructions. Shops will re-open as usual Friday morning.

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK

MARCH 5th To MARCH 12th

The Automobile Industry Marches On YOUR GREAT CHANCE TO OWN A BETTER CAR

When you turn to the classified page of this paper today, you will see that a remarkable thing has happened.

Suddenly you find yourself faced with one of the greatest opportunities you've ever had to drive a better automobile.

Automobile dealers here and in every section of the country are cooperating in one big NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK. Never in the entire history of the automobile industry has there been an event like this.

From every angle, this week spells OPPORTUNITY in capital letters for used car buyers. Automobile dealers have an unusually wide selection and there are many exceptional values. Prices are way below those of a few months ago. This is the right season to buy because the good driving days of spring are just around the corner.

Many of the cars offered in this one-week bargain sale are 1937, 1936, and 1935 models. For very little money you can have a better used car with important new features introduced in the last few years.

Eleven million cars in this country, BUILT BEFORE 1931, are still registered for service. Many lack steel bodies, safe brakes, large tires, many other modern safeguards. If you are driving one, this is your chance to switch to a safer, better car. And think what these fine modern cars offer in pride of ownership and all-round satisfaction. Beautiful modern styling; more room; more comfort; more luggage space; quieter, more powerful engines; better operating economy; quiet gears; ventilation; dozens of conveniences.

You may not even need cash to make the switch to a better car. Your present car may cover the down-payment. NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK ends Saturday night, March 12. Study the classified page of this newspaper for the choicest bargains.

REMOVE UNSAFE CARS

Last year traffic accidents in this country claimed 23,700 lives,
a four per cent rise over 1936.
Yet, in spite of the increased highway travel, 20 states cut their death tolls. The total increase in highway slaughter was due entirely to the other 28 states,
where fatalities increased 10 per cent.

The 20 states which made a start toward solving the automobile traffic problem weren't just lucky. In the great majority of cases, their comparatively good
records were the result of hard, efficient work. They actually earned the savings in lives and dollars that a reduction in motor accidents involves.

The automobile industry's drive
to stimulate used car sales and speed up general business all over the United States should aid materially in removing from the streets thousands of unsafe cars
and thus advance the cause of highway safety. D. D. Fennell,
president of the National Safety Council, states that obsolete, inefficient, unreliable automobiles
have no place on the streets and highways of the United States.
Such cars are often death-traps,
both for occupants and for the other motorists who are compelled to follow and meet them
in traffic. National Used Car Exchange Week, being conducted
this week by automobile manufacturers and dealers, should result in the removal of many of these unsafe cars from the streets.

There is no doubt that elimination of these cars and their replacement by good used cars,
would increase the general safety of traffic movement immeasurably. The car that is beyond economical repair constitutes an extreme hazard every minute it is on the streets. The huge toll in 1937 should be argument enough to convince any motorist that the very least he can do is to drive a car that is safe to operate.

A SULTAN COMES

A pleasant little diversion in the Washington scene was the coming, last week, of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman. Most of us haven't realized that there was such a potentate, and are hazy as to the whereabouts and reality of Muscat and Oman, which is or are supposed to be somewhere on the Arabian peninsula. But there is nothing imaginary about the Sultan.

He arrived in state, slept in his Pullman car in the Union Station,
then at 10 in the morning was met by representatives of the State Department headed by Secretary Hull. He was borne in state through the streets of the capital, escorted by a troop of cavalry and an army band playing his national anthem. The parade
"tied up traffic and filled the air with oriental perfume." Then he lunched in state at the White House.

It was a grand reunion for the American diplomats who had dined with him four years ago in his Arabian palace, on a whole baked sheep, while slaves in gorgeous robes bathed their faces and hands in rose water. The Sultan of M. and O. seems to have had a good time, but doesn't really belong in Washington. He should go to Hollywood. He would like it, and Hollywood would like it, and on a few hours' notice
they could make him feel at home
on any location.

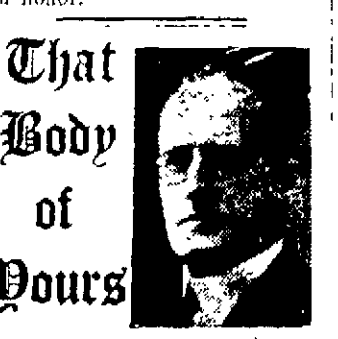

OUT OF CHINA

A historic event occurred the other day at Tientsin, China—the coast city that serves as a seaport for Peking. The Fifteenth regiment of United States Infantry sailed for home. It had been stationed there for more than a quarter century, so long that it had come to be regarded as a fixture. The personnel had changed, of course, from year to year, but the organized unit remained. And many a story the veterans of that service have to tell of war and peace and the teaching life of China. They were doubtless standing by, for instance, when

Gen. Smootley Butler, stationed there also with his marines during a civil war, as Butler himself
relates, alone in a Ford car,
stopped and turned back an army
of a million rebels.

Something hardly less interesting is being told around unofficially by men who are, or have been, in the China service. The United States, they say, is "getting out of China," and the Tien-sin departure is only one incident
in a slow, quiet but general
exodus.

This was the obvious intention of our government when the Japanese attacked Shanghai. But there was such a clamor from Americans and American interests
in China that the administration
gave in, sent more warships and troops and, while still advising Americans to leave, made a vigorous stand against Japanese encroachment on American rights.
Our people, however, have been slowly draining out of the country. So it is quite credible that our government, while stoutly
maintaining American rights in principle, will gladly withdraw so far as it can be done with safety
and honor.

LOW BACK PAIN

When an attack of low back pain occurs—lumbago and sciatica—
the first thought is naturally to relieve pain which is very severe, especially in sciatica. Rest is also part of the treatment particularly if there has been any strain from lifting, making a misstep, or from a fall or other injury.

However, if there has been no
strain or injury, the first thought should be of infection and the commonest cause—testis or tonsils should be remembered. If infection is the cause and the patient is taking no medicine to relieve pain, he will not usually be free of pain even if he is resting in bed. In strain, rest or freedom from pain can usually be obtained if the patient places himself in a position that will relieve the strain and take the "pull" off
the muscles.

Unfortunately there are cases
where there is both infection and strain and there are cases where infection has previously been present and left some damage to the bones and joints of the lower back, which is followed by the present injury. Thus the disks or cushions between the lower back spinal bones may be injured and press on the spinal cord itself or its branches, causing intense pain
in the hip extending to the back of the thigh and right down to the calf of the leg. Sometimes old infections will actually cause the joints between the spine bones to become fastened together so that sometimes two, three, or four bones are thus fastened together
forming a splint and of course
preventing proper movement in lower back. It becomes as stiff as a poker and this stiffness by preventing motion often relieves pain.

To tell whether the severe pain is due to strain or infection is often difficult. Dr. Joseph H.
Barr, Boston, in Journal of Bone
and Joint Surgery, reminds us that "the classic signs of low back strain are—spasm or tightening
of the muscles, listlessness of the opposite side away from the injury, lessening of the normal amount of movement, inability to raise leg with knee straight, tender "spots" down the back of the thigh and calf.

By remembering these "classic"
signs the physician can generally distinguish between a strain and infection.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Love for a young English girl has plunged my uncle, James Clyde, and myself
(Paul Thorne) into a desperate enterprise. With Christine Forrester's support Clyde becomes ruler of tropical Balingong.
Rentong, the sultan's representative, hits back, and for weeks
I lead my Dyaks in a jungle campaign. Finally, returning with my dejected force, I hear that Rentong's next move was to strike
Balingong itself.

Chapter 44
In My Arms

IT WAS hard for me to get anything like a complete report
from the Tanyalang pangiran in command. The Tanyalang prau
had been sent not by the White Rajah but by the White Rance.
The White Rance was aboard the Linkang. The Tanyalang which had come to the Tomarup had been aboard the Linkang too, to guard the White Rance—but the Rance had sent most of them to me. The pangiran thought there were very few Tanyalang at Bal-ingong town; the White Rajah
had sent word to most of them to defend their rice at all costs.

Then the Malays and 1,000 hill
tribesmen untidily to the White Rajah had attacked Balingong
had fallen—part of it had been burned.

The pangiran thought that the White Rajah's palace still stood.
The Rajah still held his stockades
when last they heard. Communication between the Rajah and the Rance was very poor; some days
it was cut off altogether. Renton-gen had proclaimed himself Rajah
of Balingong. The White Rajah
had repudiated him, but he had done in the Tomarup. There were remarkable reports of how he had destroyed whole armies with only a few men. There were reports that some of my men, especially the Tanyalang, went on fighting after they were dead. At night headless warriors stalked
through the villages, destroying my enemies.

The pangiran admitted that he had not believed this; but his eyes
popped when he saw the piles of heads, and he said he was now ready to believe. In the Siderong, too, I was being called the Tuan Darah. Rentongen had proclaimed that the Tuan Darah was dead.
Many believed this. Almost all believed that he White Rajah, too,
would soon be dead.

That was about all the pangiran
had to say that was intelligible.
There was a good deal more about spirits of several kinds that were infesting the jungle around Bal-ingong; a number of miracles were said to have happened, of one sort
or another, and I paid no attention to this. But there were also two or three incidents which sounded as if they might have happened, and which I did not understand.

A great gun, which, I judge by the pangiran's description, could only have come from my own mountings in Clyde's stockade, had been brought to the beach, and for some hours had fired upon the Linkang and the Avon, until the Tanyalang had captured it and rolled it into the sea. This was a peculiar story, because the pangiran had never known a Malay
lantaka when he saw one, and
could hardly have confused one
with a long swivel.

Her Beautiful Face

ANOTHER odd report was about a prau that had drifted down
the Siderong containing nothing
but the headless body of a white man, and a small ivory god sitting alone upon a thwart, one hand outstretched. (I thought of the Buddha that van der Dongen had given Clyde.) They had not shown these things to the White Rance.
They had let the prau alone because of the ivory god. It had made its way to the sea—probably, the pangiran suggested, driven by wind paddles. They did not know what became of it.

Nothing further, then, the pang-
iran said, any nearer telling me
what I had to know.
I spread the relatively fresh Tanyalang paddlers through the prau, putting the best in my own
fast bank to get a smoky pace,
and we went racing into open sea,
headed for Balingong. In the next 19 hours we covered 140 miles. It was with an unspeakable relief
that I saw that both the Linkang
and the Avon were still afloat, and in white hands.

Once we were far enough into the pass to open Balingong Bay we uncoiled everything we had saved, in a final drive to reach the Linkang before we could be cut off. A few fresh paddlers in their fast bank could have made a nasty mess of us, in spite of our Tanyalang.

Stamps
IN THE NEWS

By James B. Hatcher

Guglielmo Marconi, the man
who discovered "how to telegraph without wires" in 1895,
joins the philatelic famous
with an Italian memorial issue
which appeared January 21.

The three stamps were printed in photogravure by the State printing office at Rome, in sheets
of 64. In the single design, Marconi's oval-framed portrait rests
on the arms of Savoy and fascist emblems. Denominations: 20-centesimi rose-carmine, 50-c pale violet, 1.25-lire pale blue.

Marconi (1874-1937) was 22
when he got his first patent for a practical system of wireless telegraphy in England, his mother's country. In 1899 he impressed Europe by spanning the channel
to establish Franco-British contact without wire.

His successful experiment of sending the letter S across the Atlantic came in 1901. The 9-cent
Newfoundland stamp of 1928
shows the Cabot tower at St.
John's where Marconi sat listening to the three-dot signal from Poldhu, Cornwall.

Ships in distress found they could call for help, and the world
awoke to the value of wireless.
Marconi carried on with his experiments, perfecting long distance "beam wireless" in 1923. He was tirelessly working with high-frequency waves, trying to transmit power by radio, when he died
last July.

Postmaster General Farley has approved the plan to issue, during the next two years, a new regular U. S. series depicting the Presidents.

Like the current 25-denomination set, the new one will range from 1/2-cent to 35 values. Washington rumors say 4 1/2-cent and 18-cent values may be added, making a total of 27 stamps. But there are 29 dead Presidents.

President Roosevelt wants to honor those 12 who haven't yet
been on stamps—John Adams,
John Quincy Adams, Van Buren,
William Henry Harrison, Tyler,
Polk, Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan,
Johnson, Arthur and Coolidge.

Adolf Hitler was appointed chancellor of Germany January 30, 1933. For the recent fifth anniversary the Reich's printing plant produced two pho-
togravure semi-
postals of symbolic design.
The values are 6 plus 4-plon-
nig green and 12 plus 3-pl-
red, with the
surtax destined for Hitler's cult-ture funds.

Prof. Alois Kolg of Leipzig did the design. It shows a half-length figure of a nude Nordic youth holding a torch in one hand, laurel in the other. The top of Berlin's famous Branden-
burger gate, with its horse-drawn chariot, forms the background.

Fire Protection
Discussed Friday
At Lloyd Meeting

Highland, March 9.—Fire protection in the town of Lloyd occupied the major part of the monthly meeting of the town board held Friday evening in the town hall with John P. Wadlin, supervisor, presiding, and Justices of the Peace Walter R. Scan-man, Uriah P. Decker, Arthur B.
Marritt and Jacob J. Donovan and Clerk Lorin Callahan attending.
Discussion of this topic was precipitated by the appearance
before the board of William B.
Carr, treasurer, and Leslie Achbar, both representing the Allied Communities Fire Company of Clintondale. They advised the board that their company intended to extend their fire district
from the old limit of one and one-half miles from the house to two miles from the house house to
and that they expected to bring in a petition signed by the required number of taxpayers at the next meeting of the Lloyd board.

Following the hearing granted
the Clintondale representatives
the matter of forming a fire protection district in those portions of the town of Lloyd not included
within the present and intended limits of the Highland and Clin-tondale fire districts.

It was stated that the law permits the forming of what is known as a fire protection district. A small tax is collected from the property owners affected
and the town board then contracts
with an existing fire district or hose company to render protection in such a district. Formerly when the fire trucks were taken out of the district
the fire was located and, of course,
it was only a courtesy extended such persons. Under the new plan, if adopted, it would become the duty of the hose company under contract to render protection
to that district.

The opinion was expressed that

Man About
Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It does seem at times that the theater moves in mysterious ways. Whether feast or famine, chicken or fishers, there is always some curious circumstance that invites wonder
or calls for the talents of a Hans Christian Andersen to explain.
I have in mind that cornucopia
of good things that poured out in sweetmeats a few weeks back.
Four new plays came to Broadway
in one week, and all were hits. Yet one was written by an Irish school teacher who never before earned more than $10 a week. Another was authored by a master classicist, born rich, hailed everywhere
as one of the significant novelists
of our time.

THE other night, sitting in the dusky glow of a nightclub, I was talking with Billy Rose about the whys and wherefores of success and failure on Broadway,
when a pretty girl came up and fairly threw herself in Billy's arms. "Hello," she cried. "I'm sitting at the table down there with father and having a wonderful time. We're enjoying it so much.
Won't you come down and say
hello when you have the chance?
He'd love to see you."
When she had gone, he turned to me. "Know who that was?"
"No, I don't," I replied.
"She's the daughter of the playwright," he said, naming him,
"who made such a hit when he was with George Abbott."
"But that was a long time ago."
"Hasn't he done anything since?"
"No, he hasn't."
He seems to have written himself
out. . . . Some playwrights do that.
. . . They go along and have fine success, and then one morning
they get up and their talent has run dry. . . . Like ink in a fountain pen. . . . It's one of those things.

PROBING THE MATTER FURTHER

we discovered that every one of the man's major hits had been written in conjunction with Abbott. . . . "Well," concluded Rose,
"a lot of people go great with Abbott and don't do so good when they get away from him," which seemed to me the finest compliment George Abbott could possibly have.
And, on the off chance that you live a long way from New York
and aren't familiar with the current Broadway set-up, Mr. Abbott is an ex-press agent who wrung
a successful career out of the most hazardous and unpredictable business in the world—writing and producing plays. At present he has three going, all uncerious.
They are: (1) "All That Glitters," which thumbs its nose at Cate Society; (2) "Brother Rat," which points out a few of the trials and tribulations encountered by cadets
in military school; (3) "Room Service," which brings hilarity from the show-production business itself.

More Monkey Talk

heard this word. "They," continued
the Rhesus monkey, "be-

your world the

It's not easy for them to wear
warm red jackets in the summer
time, to step on hot pavement and hold out their little hands for money which so often isn't even used for them.

"They are kindly, and they are bright, but I would never be so good-natured for I do not want
some of the masters who own monkeys. Our owner is good to us.
keepers in zoos are so kind—but I never did like to see monkeys
walking on hot pavements, keeping on those heavy jackets all day long.

"There are the black spider monkeys and the grey spider monkeys and they have long, thin bodies
and long, thin legs. If you say them in a tree from a short distance away you would say they did believed look like spider-monkeys.
They aren't so very strong—always eating something that seems to us
set them, and they're easily frightened, too."

"I know there are gorillas and orang-utans and chimpanzees and gibbons," said Christopher.
"Oh, yes," said the monkey, "but they are somewhat different, of course. We have an orang-ut
with our show."

Would Make State Normal Schools to Teachers' Colleges

Albany, March 9 (Special).—A bill has been introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman R. Foster Piper, Republican, of Erie county, to make all state normal schools into teachers colleges. The measure was referred to the Assembly education committee immediately upon introduction.

In a memorandum filed by sponsor of the bill, at the time of its introduction, it is contended that New York State has lagged far behind the other states in respect to teachers training.

"During the past 20 years," declared Assemblyman Piper, "the term 'normal school' has become obsolete in most states, as these schools have been advanced to teachers colleges by offering four year courses to their students, and granting degrees to their graduates. There are 200 teacher training institutions in the United States; of these 175 are now teachers colleges, and 25 are normal schools. Of this 25, none are to be found in the State of New York."

"At the present time," Assemblyman Piper continues, "Fredonia, Potsdam, Oswego, Cortland and Genesee Normal schools have four year courses in special fields, such as music, industrial arts, physical education, and library work. However, the student who takes one of these courses is not given a degree, although I am informed that the work he does at these institutions is equal to that of our leading colleges and universities of the country. Certainly an injustice is being done to these students, and they should receive degrees when they have completed these four year courses."

"Students attending Normal schools in New York State are not eligible to receive University scholarships. Thus, some of our best prospective teachers pass up the Normal school and enter institutions where they may enjoy the $100 a year scholarship allowance."

Two Colleges
"The two Teachers Colleges of the state at Albany and Buffalo can offer these scholarships because they are colleges. Between three and four hundred of these superior students have been registered in Albany. In Buffalo, where the degree has been granted since 1926, 65 scholarship students have enrolled. These groups of students of high scholarship are extremely valuable in a teacher training institution and set the pace of intellectual achievement. When the Normal Schools become Teachers Colleges, they will automatically share in this benefit."

"However, to my mind the most important reason for the passage of this bill is to raise the standard of education in our public schools. Teachers who graduate from our normal schools will be better prepared to teach if they are required to take a four year course. As a matter of fact, a large number of teachers do take post graduate work after they have entered the teaching profession, and this, of course, is to be commended. However, no one will deny that it will be of much benefit to our educational system if all our teachers have completed a full four years college course, and have received a degree as evidence of their fitness to teach in our schools."

"I believe there are two million children in the public schools in this state. We owe it to these children to give them the best instruction that can possibly be obtained, and to do this, proper training is necessary."

"I am told that this bill has the unqualified endorsement of the State Teachers Association representing 45,000 members, the state, the city and village superintendents, numbering approximately 150, 200 district superintendents who represent the entire rural area of the state, and the state high school principals representing 350 high schools."

Camp-o-Ree Plans Are Announced

At the district meetings of the Boy Scout organization which are taking place during the first two weeks of March plans are being made for the second annual Camp-o-ree for the entire council which will take place on the state army grounds, in Kingston June 3, 4 and 5. This second annual affair is estimated to bring together well over 600 boys and their leaders and will show a marked improvement over the first one which took place last year. There will be a slight change in the program over last spring, such as, on Friday night will find the different districts having their own camp fire with the mass camp fire on Saturday night. There will also be opportunities for historical trips around the city of Kingston, and other interesting events. The Kingston district will again act as hosts and is busy now preparing a list of the committees to make the arrangements in preparation for this event and also for its conduct. As time advances other information will be given to the public and press.

Plans have also been announced that the annual summer camp for the boys of the Ulster-Greene council will take place July 10 to August 6. Opportunities are being made this year for troops to attend camp under their own leadership at a cheaper rate for board as well as for those who come without their own leadership as many have done in the past. The camp committee is busy these days securing a new camp staff and preparing the program for the summer. The advance notice about the camp have been mailed to all Scout units throughout the entire two counties.

The second of the series of Training Conferences for Scout leaders has been arranged to take place the week of March 20 and notices will be mailed shortly to all men advising them of the subjects for discussion as well as the time and place of meetings.

With the many new units being organized it is anticipated that this March series of conferences will be well attended.

At Normal School

New Palts, March 9—Alumni homecoming week-end will be held March 12 and 13. The Outing Club will sponsor a tea dance Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium; the Dramatic Club's presentation of "Eddie Meets the Family" will be given Friday evening, March 11, at 8:15. The Varsity-Alumni game will be held Saturday night in the gymnasium.

At a compulsory meeting of the Dramatic Club the following officers were elected for the second semester. President, Edwin Braem; vice president, Terrance Kelly; secretary, Helen Bender; treasurer, Roy Silver.

At the next meeting of the Arts and Crafts Club on April 11, Miss Rose Ewald will speak to the club concerning her work with "The Near East Foundation."

The Delphics entertained Miss Gertrude Nicholas, Miss Grace MacArthur, Miss Rebecca McKenna and Miss Emily Libersfeld of the faculty, at dinner on Tuesday evening.

The current ping pong tournament is producing plenty of excitement these days. John Butler, a freshman, is well in the lead, being undefeated to date.

The Aganion sorority won over Theta Phi sorority in a basketball game by five points on Thursday night, played in the training school gymnasium.

Prof. and Mrs. Howard Mosher and Mr. and Mrs. Olen T. Flazier of the faculty were dinner guests of Theta Phi Sorority on Thursday evening.

Louise Matellage and the Modern American Dance group illustrated technique of modern dancing at assembly in the auditorium on Tuesday, March 8. A talk was given on the technique of modern dancing.

Plano accompanists were Mildred Kelley and Doris Brown. Students in the dance group were Gertrude Carroll, Shirlie Hubbard, Mildred Lauer, Doris Branwasser, Mary Cunningham, Claire McBride, Vivian Dworkin, Mollie Brown, Marguerite Terwilliger, Doris Tullitt, Miriam de Chellin, Claire Longren, Ruth Patterson, Anne Blum, Julia Nutusky and Jean Sundstrom.

Bard College basketball team won over New Palts Normal team Friday night in the New Palts gymnasium with a score of 31-28.

The Men's Glee Club was host at the Music Association meeting Wednesday night. The meeting was held in room 11, which was decorated in cabaret style.

Carrying out this theme, refreshments were served during the program and dancing followed.

Assisting Mr. Ridgway were Albert Weissman, program chairman; Vernon Lull, chairman of refreshments; and John Knapp, who had charge of music. Members of the music group in the school who entertained were Mildred Ludwig, Mary Rogers, Mollie Brown, Doris Branwasser, Mary Cunningham, Ruth Patterson, Madeline Gibson, Albert Weissman, Don Hoffmann, John Allen and William Callahan.

The music department of New Palts Normal School will give its annual concert on Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock, in the Normal auditorium. The program is being presented by the Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Jennie Lee Dann, the girls' chorus under the direction of Miss Marian Harding and the Little Symphony under the direction of Prof. Howard B. Hoffman.

The Glee Club will open with "Salutation," by Gains, Victor Hebert's "Moonbeams." The "Ave Maria," by Franz Abt. The group will conclude with the well known Prayer from Handel and Grellet by Humperdick. An outstanding feature of the evening's program will be the "Song of Man" by Richard Kountz. The chorus first number will be "In a Luxurious Garden" by Maurice Strakosky.

"The Green Cathedral" by Hahn and "Lullaby" by Bachmann are brilliant and vividly expressive. The second group is quieter with a depth of feeling and consists of "Vera Lenguaes" by Lotti, "Lift Thine Eyes" by Madsen, and "Vesper Hymn" which is traditionally sung by the chorists.

The orchestra will present a group of numbers, especially featured for the instrumentation of the Little Symphony, consisting of "The Marches," a minute by Mozart; "In the Dark of the Night" a composition in which Beethoven shows how modern he really was in his knowledge of present day rhythm and harmony; the "Swedish Wedding March" by Sodermann which features a typical solo; "A Night in India," which portrays a gorgeous Hindu atmosphere, including a native Hindu dance by Miss Ruth Verbeke; and a tone poem, "After Glow," depicting the cool summer evening after sunset. The orchestra's offering begins with works from the earlier classics and concludes with a special concert arrangement of "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Lieutenant.

Dick Whittington and his cat, St. George and the Dragon, and other characters appropriate to each section will be introduced and used to mark new underground stations in London.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Add to the fast-vanishing tribes of Hollywood the old sailing ships who can tell you what a dead-eye is, or a swifter or a cathead.

"There's just about a dozen men left," mused Chris Christensen "who know about an old-time rigging."

Long-time rigging has been the movie livelihood of Captain Chris these 15-odd years. During that time he's built most of the wind-jammers and schooners used in pictures—built them on soundstages, or remodeled practical craft used in sea-going scenes.

Sailors conversant with royal halyards and gallant halyards are becoming so rare that Chris Christensen, himself 29 years at sea, has been placed under exclusive contract to 20th Century, where it's his worry to round up enough veterans of the seven seas to whip together in quick time a wind-jammer for "Slave Ship" or the current "Kidnapped."

"We can do it with regular studio carpenters," he said, "but it takes longer. Because I've got to explain what I mean when I use the jargon. We put up that ship for 'Kidnapped' in 10 days with help of some veterans. But they're scarce. Lot of 'em get back to sea, slack times in pictures, then I get a call and have to prowl around down the harbor, hunting new ones."

Modern "old-time ships" are equipped with hydraulic jacks. They can pitch and roll and shiver—on a sound stage—under control of levers. Makes sea films a heap simpler. But none of Christensen's movie boats, even the sound stage variety, is a shoddy makeshift.

The camera can look in any direction on them and not find fault. Once, long time ago, Captain Chris thought he'd save some money by "fixing up" only those parts the director would shoot. That was on "The Divine Lady." Frank Lloyd directed. Came a day when Lloyd changed his mind about an angle. Chris and crew did some scampering to "cover up."—he doubts that Lloyd suspected it—but that taught him a lesson. Stem to stern, his ships now are camera-worthy to the last knot.

At sea at 12, Danish Chris has lived through shipwrecks and fires, was twice around the Horn before he was 21, has been shanghaied, and had hair-raising experiences to fill a book. Maybe when there's a slack time in movie shipbuilding, he'll lit it.

Once "Kegged" A Desert But there hasn't been much slack time since "Mutiny on the Bounty" clicked. "Souls at Sea," "Captains Courageous," "The Buccaneer," "Slave Ship" and other sea pictures have kept Hollywood's ocean veterans busy.

And even when the movies stick to land, there's work for Chris. He had a big job—handling 14 miles of rope and canvas for tents on "Under Two Flags," in which the entire background was desert.

Broadway: "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs"

Broadway: "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Minus a single big name star yet hailed by critics everywhere as the outstanding motion picture triumph of a decade, Walt Disney's first full length film comes to the Broadway in a don't miss attraction of the first magnitude. The famous fairy story takes on color, comedy, beauty, terror and reality during its rendition and it will captivate and enthrall all who see it. Here is a new phase of the motion picture art, a wholesome and entertaining picture that possesses interest, enjoyment and humor. Staged and presented with rare skill and genius, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" brings its audience a cinema masterpiece from the realm of fantasy and presents it in a manner so entertaining that motion picture patrons will want to see it enacted again and again. Kingston: "The Love of a Friend" and "Expensive Husbands" Dick Egan forsakes the western type of film fare for the first time in this story of a hook and ladder employee who fights fires and his girl friend at one and the same time. "Expensive Husbands" is the associate feature with Beverly Roberts.

Orpheum: "Perfect Specimen" The humorous and different story of a cloistered young man of wealth who is brought up to be perfect because he isn't contaminated by other human beings and who goes completely on the loose when a strange girl happens into his guarded estate forms the excitement and laughter for this show with Errol Flynn and Joan Blondell starred and ably supported by Edward Everett Horton and May Robson.

Bud Festival to Have Song Contest

The public is invited to compete in choosing a song for the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival, to be used for community singing. The rules of the contest follow:

Words and music must be written neatly in ink and fitted together.

Words and music, or either one, may be original, or they may be old, but they must be free from copyright restrictions.

The contest closes April at midnight.

All entries must be submitted to Mrs. Antonio Knauth, chairman of the Music Committee, 322 Albany Avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

It is suggested that contestants keep in mind the desirability of choosing a very simple melody.

Assembly Favors March 16 Closing, Senate to Concur

Albany, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—The New York assembly adopted unanimously today a resolution postponing the date of final adjournment for 12 o'clock noon next Wednesday, March 16.

The resolution was sent immediately to the Democratic-controlled Senate, where concurrence is expected to be delayed for a few days pending efforts to clear up differences of opinion on measures.

Should the 161st session adjourn by March 16, it would become the second shortest meeting in the past 30 years. The previous shortest date was March 11, 1932, when Republicans controlled both houses.

To speed up its work, the larger house also adopted a resolution transferring all remaining proposed legislation from the 39 standing committees to the power-granting committee which usually meets the last 10 days of a session. Dunigan has delayed submission of an adjournment resolution pending an attempt to muster sufficient votes for approval.

Governor Lehman's proposal to permit savings banks to sell life insurance. Administration spokesmen expressed hope the measure would be put to a vote next Monday night or Tuesday.

Republican Senate leaders announced, however, they would not attempt to produce any minority member votes for the bill unless Dunigan can line up at least 20 of the 29 Democrats.

This proposal shared the capital spotlight with the new state highway bill, a two-billion dollar measure that milk distributors are "dictating" prices to producers under the Rogers-Allen

Railroads Are Now Granted Increase In Freight Rates

The long-awaited decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the petition of the railroads of the country for a horizontal increase of 15 per cent in freight rates, was announced by the commission yesterday. Under the decision the roads will be enabled to increase their freight rates from five to ten per cent. The higher increase will affect generally miscellaneous and manufactured commodities, with the five per cent increase affecting farm and lumber products. There will be an increase of ten cents per short ton for anthracite coal, with no increase allowed for soft coal, coke and iron ore. Some of the articles on which no increases were allowed were given specific rate boosts last November. The commission made clear that it believed that rate increase alone would not solve the problems of the carriers; that the "horizontal" increase of 15 per cent asked would do more harm than good, and that there is some doubt as to the benefit to be derived from the increases granted.

Railroad officials last night were said to be universally disappointed at the failure of the commission to grant the full 15 per cent increase asked.

Rail stocks sold off on the Pacific coast exchanges following the announcement of the rail rate decision by the ICC.

On the New York exchange stocks eased yesterday, but closed well above the lows for the day. Industrial stocks, which were off over two points during the second hour of trading, showed a loss of .05 points in the last hour, closing at 15.55 in the Dow-Jones averages; rails lost 0.50 point, to 27.55; utilities showed a decline of 0.11 point, to 19.00. Corporate bonds declined, governments were irregular. London and Amsterdam markets were lower. French franc dropped.

The suspension of Richard Whitney & Co. was announced from the rostrum of the Stock Exchange shortly after the market opening Tuesday. The market, taken by surprise, sold off, but losses were mostly recovered when it was discovered that the insolvency was an individual situation and did not reflect general market conditions. The firm acted as bond brokers, chiefly for other brokers.

Used car sales by Ford dealers on first day of National Used Car Exchange Week were 10,000 cars, almost triple daily average of the preceding ten days. Reports from other manufacturers also indicated increases.

Bulck and Pontiac have stepped up production to four days a week, from three days. Chrysler has stepped up production 20 per cent.

Montgomery Ward, Spiegel, Inc., Interstate Dept. Stores, S. H. Kress and Ross Stores have February sales under those of a year ago by from 1.8 to 20.7 per cent. The first 25 chain stores to report for February show an average drop in sales from a year ago of 2.9 per cent.

Early Referendum

Vienna, March 9 (AP)—Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, champion of Austria's independence, was reported reliably today planning an early referendum to win a mandate for his resistance to German encroachment. Government officials predicted a 70 per cent vote endorsing Schuschnigg's policies since his "Berchtesgaden" conversations last month with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, which opened the way for wider Nazi influence in Austria.

Farmer Vote

Washington, March 9 (AP)—The agriculture department set up machinery today to take a farmer vote Saturday on invoking control provisions of the new farm law for the first time. Polling places were established in 20 states where more than 2,000,000 cotton and tobacco growers can say whether they want a quota system to hold surplus yields of their crops off the market.

Queer Automobile Accident Receives An Airing in Court

A rather unusual type of negligence action was taken up in Supreme Court this morning before Justice Bergan and a jury. While the action on trial is an automobile case it presents features not usually found in automobile negligence actions.

There are three actions consolidated and tried as one action. Luther C. Dixon, local G. L. F. feed agent, brings an action against Carlton W. Parko to recover damages to his international truck which was struck by a car operated by Mr. Parko and owned by his wife on May 24, 1937, at the Churchwell fruit farm at Ulster Park. Mr. Dixon seeks to recover $500 damages to the truck which was being driven by William Emerson, known locally as "Buddy" Emerson in boxing circles.

In turn Carlton Parko and his wife, Elizabeth N. Parko, of Hyde Park, bring two actions against Mr. Dixon and Mr. Emerson to recover damages. Mr. Parko seeks to recover $2,000 for loss of services of his wife and for doctor's bills and hospital expenses. Mrs. Parko seeks to recover $1,000 damages to her Chevrolet car and also $5,000 for personal injuries which she suffered.

The stories of the two parties differ as to who is to blame for the accident. A. J. Cook appears for Mr. Dixon and Mr. Emerson and Nathaniel Rubin for the Parkos.

Mr. Parko on the other hand contends that the truck came suddenly out of the drive as he approached and he had no opportunity to swerve to avoid an accident.

Mr. Parko's story is that he was driving north at 40 miles an hour when he suddenly saw the truck come out of the private way. He contends he could not swerve to the left of the road to avoid striking the truck since a curve ahead prevented his seeing any approaching cars from the north. He claims the accident was due to the negligence of the driver who was carrying three tons of feed on a 1 1/2 ton truck.

Parko and his wife were accompanied by a four weeks' old baby. Mr. Parko and the baby escaped injury but Mrs. Parko was injured about the face, body and legs and was taken to Vassar Hospital at Poughkeepsie by a passing G. C. ambulance. She claims permanent injuries and also seeks to recover for a scar on her face.

Mr. Parko, the first witness sworn, said she had observed the line of departure from Poughkeepsie as 2:30 o'clock. The accident happened about 3 o'clock. The car had been traveling about 40 miles an hour and as the car came north over a rise in the road the wind blew the blanket about her baby over its face and she looked down to adjust the blanket and there was a crash. She said she had not seen anything of the truck or how the accident happened. She could not say whose fault it was. Testifying as to her injuries she said she suffered severe pain and was rendered unconscious after the accident. She remained in the hospital for three days and then was unable to do her work for some time and visited the doctor numerous times.

Her leg still bothers her. Mr. Dixon contends that on the day of the accident his driver had delivered feed at the Churchwell place and was proceeding out of a private driveway to route 9-W to proceed south with additional feed. As Emerson drove his truck, an international ton and half truck, out to the roadway he claims he had to drive his truck out of the concrete in order to see approaching traffic from the south past a line of trees. He claims he drove his truck out on the first lane of the three strip roadway and then observed a car coming several hundred feet down the road. He stopped his truck with its wheels six feet on the pavement. This left two lanes clear and also a portion of the first lane. He claims he saw the car approach and when it was 40 or 50 feet away he observed the driver had made no attempt to swerve his car to the left to pass around the truck so he sounded his horn. The car struck the truck at the front end, swung it around in the road and then skidded on down the road for a distance of 70 feet before it came to rest on the lawn. Emerson claims his truck had stopped for a time to allow the approaching car to pass ahead of him but the driver apparently made no effort to avoid the truck.

The contention of Dixon is that the driver was looking in an opposite direction at the time and apparently did not see the truck at the side of the pavement, headed out.

Emerson contends that his car had been stopped on the pavement about six feet from the shoulder for some time before the accident and that it was not until the Chevrolet was 50 feet away and he observed the course of the car continuing on straight that he sounded his horn to warn the driver. The road was clear both ways for several hundred feet. The contention of Mr. Dixon is that the Chevrolet car was traveling faster than 40 miles an hour and that the impact of the passenger car with the loaded truck turned the truck around and pulled it a distance of 35 feet off the road. The passenger car traveled 72 feet before it stopped.

Jurors not engaged on the trial were excused until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. There will be no term of court on Friday as Justice Bergan has special term at Albany.

To Appear Mrs. Robinson

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Representative Terry (D., Ark.) said today President Roosevelt would appoint Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, widow of the Chief Executive's late Senate leader, acting postmaster at Little Rock, Ark.

No Injuries.

Cars driven by Bert Beesmer of Stony Hollow and William Hurrenbeck of Kingston R. D. were in collision near the Kennedy place on Route 23 about 6:25 last night. Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg made an investigation, but no injuries were reported and there were no arrests.

Richard Whitney Assumes Blame for His Firm's Failure

New York, March 9 (AP)—Richard Whitney, senior partner of the bankrupt brokerage firm which bore his name and five-times president of the New York stock exchange, today shouldered full responsibility for the conditions which led to the sensational failure of his company.

In a statement issued through his attorneys as open hearings in a state investigation got under way, the one-time leader of the so-called "Old Guard" in the exchange absolved his partners of blame and acknowledged "certain of my actions were wrong."

He offered to take the consequences. Whitney said he was putting himself at "the disposal" of the state attorney general to further investigation and was prepared to make a full statement.

Whitney's statement was read over the telephone to Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., at Albany by Charles H. Tuttle, of the Whitney counsel, after the first testimony had been taken here in the state's inquiry.

Later it was presented to Ambrose V. McCall, assistant attorney general, in charge of the hearings here.

Police Refuse To Search Area

New Rochelle, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—The police director today refused to yield to pressure for a search of vacant ground for Peter Levine, while the Parent-Teacher Council heard a report that a boy had been wired to a tree a block from the Levine home several weeks ago.

A woman whose name was not revealed told the Parent-Teacher Council meeting yesterday that while walking in Brookdale avenue last December she found a 15-year-old boy wired to a tree with his clothing torn and partly exposing his body to the cold. She was unable to identify the youth or get an explanation from him after freeing him, she said, but she did believe he was Peter Levine. Brookdale avenue intersects Fifth avenue, one block below the Levine home. The boy's shirt was nearly torn off and his chest was bare, the woman wrote to the council in a letter read at the monthly meeting. His trousers were rolled up and his socks pulled down to bare his legs. She stopped her car and approached the boy just as a letter carrier came by. Together they freed the boy as a group of girls passed. He declined to give his name or school or tell who had trusted him to the tree or for what reason.

Adds to Service Equipment

The Kingston Buick Co. on Clinton avenue has added a motorcycle trailer to its servicing department in order to insure prompt and more efficient service to its customers. The motorcycle has an attachment which can be hooked to an automobile, making it possible for a service man to call for a car and bring it to the garage without the need of an additional man. Robert Gross, manager of the Kingston Buick Company, said this morning that the new equipment would speed up servicing jobs and would also prove beneficial to customers.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

SOCIETIES • CLUBS • PERSONALS

College Club Has Book Group Program

The Book Group of the College Women's Club had charge of the March meeting which was held Tuesday evening at The Huntington on Pearl street. Six members of the group, of which Mrs. Irwin L. Jennings is the chairman, have an interesting review of "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin.

Miss Irene Klinkade opened the discussion with a review of the life of the author, his training and career as a physician, first as a ship's surgeon and then as a company doctor in a Welsh mining town. She explained that he turned to writing in a small Scottish highland village where he had gone in 1920 to recuperate from a serious nervous breakdown. He became so interested in his new field of work that since then he has written four novels.

Miss Ethel M. Hull was the next speaker. She continued the account by pointing out various situations in the novel which are recognizable as being autobiographical. The story of "The Citadel" was told in detail by Mrs. Ward Brigham. Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. Harry Halverson and Mrs. Jennings. Quotations and examples were read from the book to illustrate the author's own philosophy which had developed during his years of practice.

Other books discussed by the group during the winter months have been "Turning Wheels," epic of the great Boer trek; "Kai-rana," novel of the Swedish islands; "Life With Mother," "Forever Yvonne," "Northwest Passage," and "And So Victoria." Mrs. Jennings gave a brief criticism of each of the books and a few suggestions for anyone desirous of reading them.

A short business meeting preceded the book review. Miss Elsie Rich, chairman of the membership committee, presented the name of Miss Miriam Mann, who has a B.S. degree from New York University, and who was accepted as an active member. Announcement was also made of a meeting of the drama group on Monday, March 14 at the home of Mrs. Joseph Deatlehauser on Lucas avenue. Mrs. Nicholas of the Little Theatre Group also told of the activities of that body and invited the club members to attend one of the meetings.

Following the meeting, the club enjoyed a social hour during which refreshments were served. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Kenneth LeFevre, chairman; Mrs. Gerard Betz, Miss Julia Cook, Mrs. Stanley H. Dempsey, Miss Dorothy DuMont, Mrs. Robert Groves, Miss Bella Hyman, Mrs. William Kraft, Miss Mary E. Neone, Mrs. Thomas L. Partlan, Mrs. J. Richard Shults, Miss Gertrude Somes and Mrs. Arnold Van Laer.

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and love.

What you should try is a particularly good woman's remedy—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than that of the famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let this wholesome herb and root help Nature calm your aching nerves, tone up your system, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not you? Get the "mild" remedy that's tried and true. It's the only one that's been in the market for over 40 years. It's the only one that's been in the market for over 40 years. It's the only one that's been in the market for over 40 years.

April 4, Date of Iturbi Concert

Inasmuch as there has been a considerable lapse of time between the second and the coming third concert of the Cooperative Concert Association concerts to be given at the Kingston High School auditorium, ticket holders are now reminded of the coming date, Monday, April 4, at 8:30 p. m., for the Iturbi Concert.

In the past few years musicians and music lovers of this vicinity have been fortunate in being able to hear the fine concerts they have heard under the Cooperative Concert Association. Now it will be a peculiar privilege to be able to hear, thus early in his career, not only such a superb pianist as Jose Iturbi, Spanish pianist, but also Iturbi, who is now acclaimed as an orchestral conductor who is following so closely in the footsteps of the incomparable Toscanini.

In later issues of The Freeman, there will appear a sketch of Iturbi's life and the program to be given at the time of his appearance in Kingston.

Mrs. Bush Honored
Mrs. C. L. Gannon of Green street was hostess this afternoon at a tea for the wives of the officers of the city, honoring Mrs. William S. Bush. Mrs. Gannon was assisted by Mrs. Fred H. Voss and Mrs. Marie O'Meara, who poured, and Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb, who presided over the punch bowl.

Sewing Club Meets
The Happy Circle Sewing Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Samuel Houton on Hasbrouck avenue. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Boyce. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Gadd on Hasbrouck avenue.

LOST COLONY CLEW FOUND CUT IN ROCK

Virginia Dare's Massacre Is Told in Message.

Atlanta, Ga.—A message in Elizabethan English crudely carved on a slab of stone found on the bank of the Chowan river in North Carolina is believed to hold the secret of the lost colony of Roanoke island, N. C., and the fate of Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America.

Dr. Haywood J. Pearce, Jr., professor of history at Emory university in Atlanta, revealed the finding of the stone and the inscriptions telling of the Indian massacre of the lost colony.

Message Carved on Stone.
The message was chiseled on a rough slab of quartz, found fifty miles inland from the original site of the settlers. If it is authentic it describes the last days of horror of the colony sent out by Sir Walter Raleigh under Ralph Lane and John White. Sir Richard Grenville commanded the fleet that brought the colonists under Lane. A week after landing the colonists Grenville returned to England.

Threatened with famine and from hostile Indians, all the colonists later left for England on Sir Francis Drake's fleet. A few days after their departure Grenville arrived at Roanoke island with supplies and more colonists, fifteen of whom remained when he again sailed for England.

Although disappointed at the return of the first colony, Sir Walter Raleigh dispatched another company, consisting of 121 persons under White. When White arrived not one of the colonists left by Grenville was found. But he supposed they had moved inland and he left 121 other colonists on the island, among them his daughter, Eleanor White Dare, and sailed for England for supplies. When he returned he found no trace of the colonists.

Translates Lines on Stone.
On one side of the stone are the words: "Ananias Dare & Virginia went hence to heaven 1591"

On the reverse side are lines which Dr. Pearce translated as follows: "Father, soon after you went to England we came hither. Only misery and war for two years. Twenty-four surviving. The savages murdered all save seven of us. My child and Ananias too were slain with much misery."

(Signed): "E. W. D." Dr. Pearce said the initials "E. W. D." are supposed to be those of Eleanor White Dare, daughter of John White.

"If Eleanor Dare was the sender of this message the child referred to was Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America," Dr. Pearce said. "Ananias Dare, husband of Eleanor and father of Virginia, was one of the twelve assistants to White. Virginia was born August 18, 1587."

Nasturtium, Once Used as Food, Scurvy Remedy
Nasturtium leaves and seeds were esteemed as foods long before people began to appreciate their flowers. As far back as the sixteenth century, while the ships of the adventurous Drake and Sir Walter Raleigh roamed the Seven Seas, it was discovered that nasturtium leaves counteracted scurvy. They were also called "Indian cress," and as such nasturtiums are known in certain parts of the English-speaking world to this day. In parts of Europe people still use the leaves as a salad and pickle the green, full-grown juicy seeds.

As in the case of many others among popular garden flowers, like marigolds and zinnias, nasturtiums are true Americans, states a writer in the New York World-Telegram. History does not record when they first came to man's notice, but their discovery dates back to the beginning of the sixteenth century, when curious Spaniards found them "somewhere in Peru."

By the end of the sixteenth century they had been introduced into English gardens by way of Spain and France, and called trocolum minus—the Greek word trocolum standing for trophy. The circular leaves as they are carried on their stems for all the world resemble the shields carried by the Greek soldiers.

About the year 1690 the original dwarf (minus meaning small) variety was followed by the stronger growing trocolum majus. Still later a species from Colombia, called trocolum lobbianum, found its way into European gardens. It brought with it the dark blood which has enriched this flower with tones of red, orange and the deep red-browns. From these three ancestors are derived all the nasturtiums in cultivation.

YOUR WEDDING WILL BE LOVELY IF YOU BUDGET AND PLAN NOW!

Here's to the bride—the serene and lovely bride you're going to be on your wedding day—with every budgeting and etiquette problem solved long before.

And what a lot of problems the bride has, beginning with: "Shall the wedding be formal or informal? How formal is formal?"

The wedding is formal if the bride wears a veil and a formal wedding dress—whether the setting is a church, a home, a club or a hotel. The men in the party wear outwashes and striped trousers in the morning or afternoon, tails and white ties in the evening. There are usually floral decorations, music, and a reception.

But don't say "Goodness, that costs too much!"—and plan a "lunch-hour" wedding. Correctly done, an informal wedding can be just as lovely, just as dear a memory.

At a garden wedding—the bride looks ethereal and lovely in organza, with a flowery hat or a short veil—the groom handsome and smart in white trousers and a blue coat.

Our 40-page booklet, HOW TO PLAN YOUR WEDDING, gives complete details for weddings of all types; etiquette, what to wear, who pays for what, the bride's party.

Send 15 cents for our booklet, HOW TO PLAN YOUR WEDDING, to Kingston Daily Freeman Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

RECKON," said old Nate. "You two are a couple of these gangster fellows I bin hearin' so much about. You," he added, nodding toward the chubby-faced young man, "must be Boris Picato. An' you little feller, must be Sammy, Picato's bodyguard."

The chubby-faced man grinned, but said nothing.

Sammy sneered: "You're not so smart, though? What else do you know about us, creep?"

Old Nate ran a hand through his grizzled gray hair.

"You're bad-uns," he continued. "I reckon right now you're stickin' out after stickin' up the Femore back an' shootin' a couple of desks. You're waitin' out here till things quiet down, an' while you're waitin' you figure mebbe you can pick up a little extra change by makin' me tell where 'tis I got my gold mine an' my little pile o' dust hid away."

Sammy opened his mouth in mild astonishment.

"Well, by jingoes," he began, but the chubby-faced man cut in on him.

"Shut up, Sammy!"

He turned to old Nate.

"Mister, either you're a plumb damn fool or you're plenty smart. Anyway you guessed right. We heard you struck it rich and we aim to relieve you of some of that dough. I'll make our stop in this stinking desert less irksome, more profitable."

The chubby-faced man was no longer grinning.

His right hand was thrust in the pocket of his jacket.

Sammy's hand was likewise concealed, and there wasn't any doubt in old Nate's mind what those pockets contained.

He scratched his head again and looked dubious.

It was part of his plan to look dubious and plenty dumb. Otherwise he wouldn't stand a chance.

He was thinking already that that remark the chubby-faced man had made about him being plenty smart showed that already they might be on to him, and that was bad.

"After a moment, he said: "I guess you jiggers got ways to make a feller talk. Leastwise I heard tell, an' I'm an old man an' ain't hankerin' to have my ears shot off."

He looked worried and seemed to consider.

"Tell you what I'll do, boys. I'll agree to show you the mine if you'll promise to leave me a share for grubstake myself. Ain't no use in me waitin' to live less you do, boys."

"That," the chubby-faced man said, "is what we want."

"We'll leave you your share, Pop. Where's the cache?"

Old Nate nodded and squinted toward the mountains that reared their naked peaks out of the desert to the north.

Sammy and the chubby-faced man took advantage of the moment to exchange winks.

"She's over there in the mountains," Nate said.

He glanced at the shiny, black coupe in which the gangsters had overtaken him and shook his head.

"You'll have to leave that there automobile here an' follow after me an' Lop-ears," he told them. "There ain't no road."

"No road?"

The chubby-faced man looked serious, but Sammy said: "Why, hell, them mountains ain't more'n five miles away, Boris. Reckon we can walk it if this old coot can."

Nate didn't wait to hear Boris' reply, but picked up a pebble and chucked it at Lop-ears.

The burro tossed its head, brayed once and then started off at a shambling trot toward the mountains.

Old Nate plodded along behind, occasionally shying a pebble at the animal.

But not him the chubby-faced man and Sammy hesitated for a doubtful minute.

"It looks," said Boris, "as though we've either got to follow, or shoot him down for nothing. And shootin' now won't do any good at all. Come on, Sammy."

It was early morning when the strange cavalcade began its trek across the desert.

Before two hours had passed the rising sun had burned away the last trace of the previous night's coolness.

The air was like the inside of an oven, mercilessly hot.

The two men in store clothes and bow-out shoes were suffering.

They had discarded their coats and loosened their collars.

They staggered rather than walked, and their mouths were open.

No sweat poured from their faces, because the sun absorbed any excess moisture as soon as it appeared.

Their skins, pasty-looking to start with, were burned a brilliant red.

Blisters were on their feet.

Every movement of face or body was agony.

Presently Sammy, lagging several feet behind the chubby-faced man, sank to his knees.

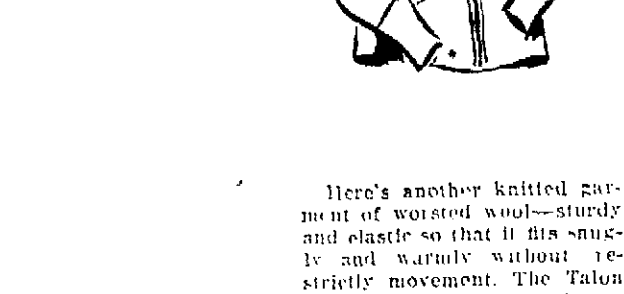

Picato turned at the sound, and

AND TALKS ON MATTERS MASCULINE

Whoever it was who willed us the saying about March coming like a lion must have had in mind some special sort of Northern lion because ordinarily there's nothing very terrific about early March days in most of the country.

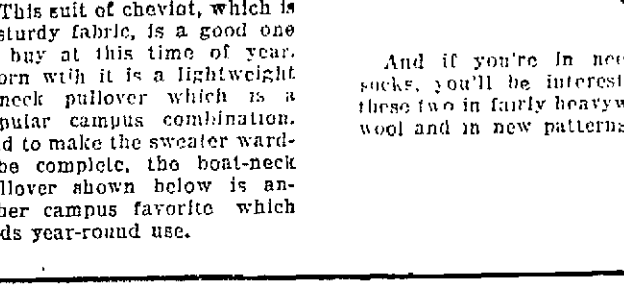

And even if they are mild it is only by comparison, and there is every chance of your being interested in a good warm sweater or a pair of galoshes—particularly if your university is one of those which requires as students to tramp the campus to get to classes.

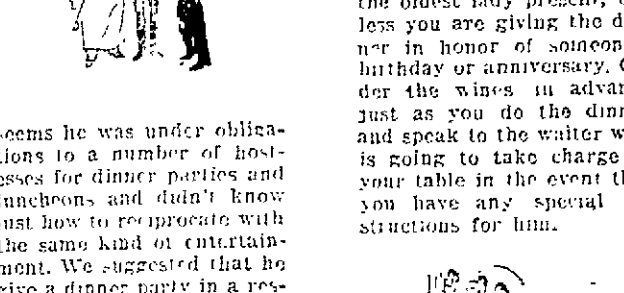

Here's a swell coat for campus or country wear during raw March weather. It's made of gabardine, and it has a collar and lining of sheepskin. With it is shown a Tyrolean hat having a cord band, Glen Urquhart plaid Saxony suit, and a pair of brown calf Norwegian shoes.

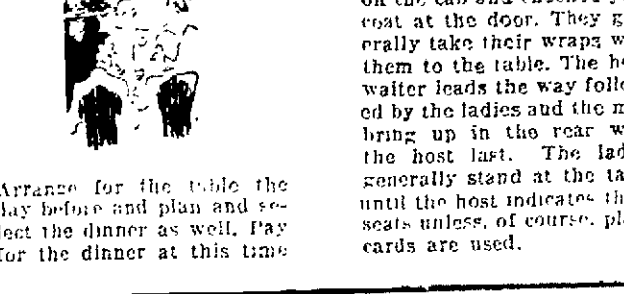

This suit of cheviot, which is a sturdy fabric, is a good one to buy at this time of year. Worn with it is a lightweight V-neck pullover which is a popular campus combination. And to make the sweater wardrobe complete, the boat-neck pullover shown below is another campus favorite which finds year-round use.

A well-made belt with a good solid buckle should be in every man's wardrobe. This one is made of cowhide, and the buckle is in keeping with the masculinity of the leather.

Port Ewen Water Bonds Are Bid In

Adams, McIntire & Company, Inc., of 10 Wall street New York City, were successful bidders for the $90,000 bond issue which was offered for sale Tuesday afternoon at the town clerk's office at Port Ewen. The issue is to finance the construction of the Port Ewen water district system. The bid of Adams, McIntire & Company was at a rate of 2.60 per cent interest with a premium of $351.

There were 10 bidders submitting proposals when Supervisor Raymond Howe, Justices of the Peace Goodrich, Soper, Frost and Sleight, and Town Clerk Webster Munson, and County Attorney Roscoe V. E. Smith met at 2 o'clock at a town board to examine the bids.

In addition to the successful bidder the following bids were opened and read:

Russell & Wetzel, Inc., 2.70 per cent interest and $297 premium.

A. C. Allen, Company, Inc., 2.60 per cent interest and $133.20 premium.

Manufacturers' and Traders' Trust Company, 2.75 per cent interest and $241.20 premium.

Sherwood & Reinhard, 2.75 per cent interest and $209 premium.

R. D. White & Co., 2.75 per cent interest and $169.20 premium.

Bacon, Stevenson & Co., 2.50 per cent interest and $252 premium.

Campbell, Phillips Co., 2.50 per cent interest and $151.10 premium.

Halsey, Stuart & Co., 3.20 per cent interest and $-11.10 premium.

J. W. Solomon & Co., 3 per cent interest and $369 premium.

With the sale of the bonds to provide the water district's share of the cost of the water system for the village of Port Ewen now at hand, it is expected that the work of constructing the system will shortly get under way. It is planned to spend about $145,000 for the system which will be constructed with aid of a PWA grant of $36,250, which has been allocated.

The system will be supplied from infiltration gallery type wells which will supply the need of the water district. This water will be pumped to a stand-pipe which will be located on the Black property at the south end of the village and a water main system will distribute the water throughout the village for domestic and fire purposes.

An ample supply of water has been developed on the Clay road flats where test borings have disclosed a suitable supply. This supply was developed after tests on the Connelly road had failed to produce a sufficient quantity of water. The tests for a suitable supply were made by a guaranteed well concern. Unless a suitable supply is located the development work is not paid for under this system.

No South Carolina Divorce

Columbia, S. C., March 9. (AP)—For another year, at least, divorce decrees won't be granted in South Carolina. The house last night refused to pass the proposal which would have ordered a referendum on the necessary constitutional amendment. South Carolina is the only state that does not allow divorce on any grounds.

Will Be Plenty of Apple Blossoms For Bud Festival

According to E. Frank Flanagan, chairman of the World's Fair Day committee of the Apple Blossom Festival, there will be plenty of apple blossoms, whether the season be early or late.

Mr. Flanagan states that the apple blossom committee, in charge of Mrs. James Higley, chairman, is busy now and has been for the past two or three weeks, making up a stock of apple blossoms for the use of merchants and others for decorative purposes. The blossoms will be sold from two cents each for the single blossoms, with wire stems, up to 35 cents or more for the large sprays, which are attached to real branches. Proceeds of the sale of these blossoms will go to the fund of the general Apple Blossom Festival committee. The ladies in charge of the work are donating their services "for the good of the cause."

Samples of the blossoms are being shown at the Flanagan store on Wall street and merchants who desire to get a supply are asked to get in touch with Mr. Flanagan.

Concern in Tokyo.
Tokyo, March 9 (AP)—Britain's tolerant attitude over the planting of the United States flag on Canton and Enderbury Islands in the mid-Pacific has aroused concern in official quarters here, where it is seen as evidence of Anglo-American cooperation. Authoritative quarters said they were unable to reconcile occupation of the islands with the United States' insistence she was concerned only with defense in the Pacific.

New Paltz Plans Zoning System

In line with many of the larger communities of the state the village of New Paltz is considering the adoption of a zoning law to govern the erection of business places within the village. Business zones as well as residential zones will be established for the purpose of preventing the encroachment of business upon the quiet residential sections. The plan has progressed to a point where the various zones have been designated and the proposition will be placed before the voters for an expression of approval.

Purpose of the Mortgage.
A mortgage is a written document pledging a certain piece of property as security for repayment of a loan. Accompanying a mortgage is a bond which is a written instrument acknowledging the debt and promising payment at a specified time. It also sets forth interest provisions. The mortgage is security for the debt, and the bond is evidence of it. The mortgagor is the person who borrows the money and gives the mortgage. The mortgagee lends the money and receives the pledge of the property as security. Because the mortgage is a form of contract, the mortgagor and the mortgagee must have the legal capacity to make a contract. Valid and legal consideration must also be given. Mortgages must not call for a rate of interest in excess of the statutory rate in the state where it is made or it will not be valid.

White Persian Cats Deaf
About 90 per cent of all white Persian cats are deaf, as are other white cats which have been bred from white stock. Deafness and albinism are associated in all animals. "Albino," from Latin "albus" (white), is the biological term applied to a pigmentless individual of a pigmented species. It is the condition in which the dark pigment is absent and the yellow nearly so. The absence of these pigments, for some unknown reason, affects unfavorably not only the vision of the animal but the hearing as well. Some cat fanciers say that pure bred white Persian cats with two blue eyes are generally stone deaf, while those with one blue eye and one pink eye usually can hear.
